Celebrity Ski Pro Biography

Jeff Hume

Highlights:

- 10 year member of the Canadian Alpine Ski Team
- 6th place - Chamonix World Cup Downhill
- 4 years competing on the FIS World Cup Tour

As a ten-year veteran of the Canadian Alpine Ski Team, Jeff has proudly represented Canada in numerous international events, including the FIS World Cup tour, the 2005 World Championships and the 1999 World Junior Championships. Highlights include placing fourth at the World Juniors, sixth on the World Cup, and first at the North American championships.

Ask Jeff about the most physically and mentally demanding world cup race course, and he'll tell you it's Kitzbuhel. This famous course, located in Austria, has made and broken many Canadian ski racers' careers. During your time with Jeff you'll get an insider's perspective on the good and bad of competing on some of the world's toughest downhill.

Now residing in Whistler, Jeff is a full time realtor. Although this keeps him very busy he still makes time to get out and enjoy the enormous terrain of Whistler Blackcomb. Future plans include further education, more travel and perfecting a new passion for surfing. Expect your Best of Both experience with Jeff to be a memorable one as he shares his stories and professional secrets of competing on the World Cup tour.
